MARKET SURVEY NOTES

A. Survey Coverage

1. The market survey for collection of prices was carried out in five (5) towns including Nairobi, Mombasa, Kisumu, Nakuru and Embu between 16th February and 8th March, 2026.

B. Calculation of Price Averages for Different Towns

2. There were eleven (11) categories of common user items. One hundred (100) outlets per category were targeted in Nairobi town, while twenty-five (25) outlets per category were targeted in each of the remaining four towns. A questionnaire describing the various items was then prepared and administered to the selected outlets.
3. Data entry and cleaning were subsequently undertaken to prepare the dataset for analysis. During the analysis, four variables were computed, namely the Geometric Mean, Standard Deviation, Coefficient of Variation, and Count. The variables were calculated as follows:

a) Geometric Mean

This is a type of average that signifies the central tendency of a data set by taking the  $n^{\text{th}}$  root of their product. Since all the values were positive, their product was found and the  $n^{\text{th}}$  root found to get the geometric mean. This is as opposed to the arithmetic mean which uses the sum of the values divided by  $n$ ,  $n$  being the total number of observations.

b) Standard deviation

This is a measure of dispersion and was calculated to show how far data sets deviate from the group mean. The standard deviation was used to calculate the coefficient of variation (CV).

c) Coefficient of Variation (CV)

This is a measure of spread that describes the amount of variability relative to the mean. It was calculated by dividing the standard deviation by the mean and multiplying by 100.

For this survey, a CV value of 30 was used to identify and eliminate outliers. If the value of the calculated CV was greater than 30, the highest or lowest price for the item was removed. This process was repeated iteratively for purposes of ensuring that the prices of items were not very far from each other.

d) Count

A Count is simply the number of valid prices that were used to calculate the mean. In this case, valid prices are prices obtained after eliminating the outlier prices as indicated by a CV of 30. For example, if we have 25 prices for an item and the calculated CV is 35, then we have to remove the outlier prices (lowest and highest prices) until the CV of 30 is achieved, say we eliminate 5 prices. Then the valid prices for that item would be the remaining 20 prices with a CV of 30. Once the calculated value of CV was  $\leq 30$ , then the mean was reported if: -

- (i) In each town, the count of remaining prices was 3 or more and for the overall mean, the count of remaining prices in all the five towns was 10 or more.
- (ii) In cases where there were less than 3 prices for a specific item in a town, then the mean price for the item was viewed as prone to bias and was therefore excluded from the report.
- (iii) Similarly, if the total number of observed prices for all towns for an item was found to be less than 10, then the overall mean for that item was not reported.

- 4. The overall mean (all columns) in this report is the mean for all valid prices for that item, including the prices which were valid but were not used to calculate the mean for the item in the town because the number of prices was less than 3.

For instance, if two towns reported two prices each for an item, the mean for this item in the respective towns was not reported. If the other three towns reported 3, 5, and 6 prices respectively for the same item, then the mean for this item was reported for the three towns. The overall mean for this item will be based on 18 prices which is inclusive of those of the first two towns (i.e.,  $2 + 2 + 3 + 5 + 6$ ) since these are the valid prices for this item. In short, the overall average is based on all valid prices of that item and is not equal to the average of the five means for each town.

- 5. For towns where the mean price is not reported, the overall mean price becomes applicable for that town. This means that if we have the overall mean price for an item, then all towns have a mean price for the item.
- 6. For items without prices both at the town level and the 'all column', such items were not available during the survey or the prices were not adequate to generate average prices. The procuring entity or stakeholders applying the results should undertake confirmation with the market through market survey.

7. The prices provided in this Guide are indicative and are intended to serve only as reference points for procurement planning and decision-making. Further, the prices are based on market conditions prevailing during the survey period and are therefore not fixed or static, but may be subject to change over time due to prevailing market dynamics.
8. The brand names were solely mentioned to emphasize the specificity of the survey. Therefore, the stated brand names are not an exclusive recommendation or prescription by PPRA to public entities, but are merely mentioned for the purpose of information.
